THERE were four murders at Cincinnati in two days.

DELAWARE COUNTY, Ohio, has bought all the turnpike roads within its limits and made them free.

THE Union Iron Company of Portsmouth, Ohio, which recently failed, has an indebtedness of half a million of dollars.

THE Cincinnati and Eastern Railroad is to be completed immediately, and will be changed to a standard gauge from Batavia to Portsmouth.

A NUMBER of capitalists in Lexington are talking of buying the Louisville Commercial, increasing its capital to $200,000, and making a live paper of it, representative of the young Democracy of the South.

THE Huguenot Society of America, in session in New York, decided to hold three meetings yearly, on the 13th of April, 24th of August and 22nd of October. A dinner will be given by the Society during the winter.

COMMISSIONER DUDLEY has recommended the suspension of fifteen firms for dishonest practices as pension claim agents. It is the intention of the Government to expose and punish the entire gang who have so long fattened by swindling pensioners and claimants for pensions.

THE full official returns of the late election in Ohio are as follows: Hoadley, 359,593; Foraker, 347,064; Schumaker, 8,361; Jenkins, 2,785; total vote, 721,464; Hoadley's plurality, 12,529; Hoadley's majority over all, 1,303. The second amendment fell short of a majority by 39,345 votes. The regulation amendment received 98,050 votes. The majority for the judicial amendment was 33,413.

THE suit for $5,000 damages instituted by Joseph Norvell against J. G. Cecil, Register of the Land Office, has been dismissed on motion of the attorneys for Norvell. The latter had brought suit against Cecil for failing to carry out a contract and agreement to appoint him to a clerkship in the office in the event of his election as Register. That there was such a contract seems to have been fairly established.

THE Yeoman says: A. D. Mann is the oldest printer now living. He established the Augusta, Ky., Argus in 1815. He now resides in Chantilly, France. He was assistant secretary of State under Wm. L. Marcy, and afterwards filled foreign appointments under several succeeding administrations. He was a medium of communication between Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Davis at the opening of the late war, and at the time of his close was a Confederate commissioner in Europe.

AN exchange says: The amount of the principal classes of investment securities outstanding in this country is estimated at something over $7,000,000,000, of which $3,184,415,201 are railroad bonds, $1,400,000,000 dividend-paying railroad stocks, $1,316,617,600 Government bonds, $870,611,000 bonds of cities, counties, etc., and $246,974,476 State bonds. The estimate of the State and municipal issues is based on the census returns, of the railroad bonds on the statistics of Poor's Manual, and of the railroad stocks on the basis of $97,554,000 paid in dividends last year at an average rate of 7 per cent. The Government bonds are of course constantly decreasing in volume, and the future is likely to see a reduction in the State and municipal issues, while railroad securities will increase less rapidly than heretofore. The amount of investment capital is now clearly outrunning the opportunities for permanently placing it and new corporate enterprises are less in confidence than formerly, so that problem of investing spare capital is becoming a serious one.

Children's cloaks and cloakings at Hunt & Doyle's.

Hunting hair-pins is the newest diversion of the boys in Pittsburgh. The Commercial-Gazette says: "Last winter it got to be quite the thing for a fellow to coax his young lady friends to give him hair pins, but now the craze is to get them without the girl's knowing what you are about. If you can steal the pin out of her hair, that's the way to do it. If you can pick up one that has fallen from her head, that's a deal better. Some fellows have followed a girl for squares, just because a hair-pin looked as though it meant to drop soon. What do they do with them? Put them into an album. They get scrap books, and push the pins through like needles. Then the girl's name, style of beauty and estimated age are written below.

How to Grease a Wagon Wheel.

The Coach-maker's Magazine indorses the statement that few people are aware that they do wagons and carriages more injury by greasing too plentifully than in any other way. A well-made wheel will endure constant wear from ten to twenty-five years, if care is taken to use the right kind and proper amount of grease; but if this matter is not attended to, it will be used up in five or six years. Lard should never be used on a wagon, for it will penetrate the hub, and work its way out around the tenons of the spokes, thus spoiling the wheel. Tallow is the best lubricator for wooden axeltrees, and castor oil for iron hubs, but many of the patent axle greases are also excellent and have the merit of being cheaper and more convenient to handle. Just enough grease should be applied to the spindle of a wagon to give it a slight coating. This is better than more, for the surplus put on will work at the ends, and be forced by the shoulder bands and nut-washer into the hub around the outside of the boxes. To oil an iron axeltree, first wipe the spindle clean, wet with spirits of turpentine, and then apply a few drops of castor oil near the shoulder and end. One teaspoonful is sufficient for the whole.

An Embarrassed Tailor.

Orders have been issued from the headquarters of the Northern Pacific Railroad to the effect that all employees on trains and stations over the line must appear in uniform. A tailor is now going over the road taking measurements of the employees for their new suits, who, in order to expedite matters, sends the following dispatch to all agents: "Take off everything but your pantaloons and shirt and be on the platform when the train arrives to be measured for your uniform." Arriving at one of the new stations he jumped from the train, tape line in hand, and shouted for the agent. In response to his call a handsome young lady stepped forward, accompanied by a burly six-footer, who announced that the lady was the agent, and he was her brother, and demanded an explanation of his dispatch. The tailor explained as best he could, and, boarding the train, telegraphed from the next station, "How many agents have you got that don't wear shirts and pantaloons, and where are they located? Answer quick."

At the meeting of the Connecticut Homeopathic Medical Society, Dr. E. H. Linnett, of Norwich, said: "In 1879 I examined 700 school-children, and only 50.71 per cent. had normal vision. This was due mainly to close application, poor printing and poor light. School rooms should be sufficiently illuminated. There should be at least thirty square inches of window space to every square foot of a room. The pupils should not face the light. The desk should be graduated to the size of the pupil—the top sloping, so that the books may be easily read while the pupil sits in an erect position. Books should be printed on good paper, with large, clear type."
